For the "Ohio Society" of St. Cloud, Fla.

(By Mrs. T. M. Stevenson, Dresden, Ohio.)

This is the day we come to celebrate
The glories of our Buckeye state;
But if we tried to tell them all
We'd live you out both great and small.

Our men and things we shall bring to view,
Of which we are proud, but only a few;
I've not forgot, as the years pass on,
Our great men, and the deeds they have done.

We do not belong to the "Old 13,"
But we have followed them closely,
Enough, I wend,
In the war of '12 we took first place;
History tells of that year of grace.

Old England arose again in her might,
And searched our ships by day and by night;
She captured our sailors by hook or by crook,
And entered their names in her own log book.

She burned our White House, and then you see,
It grew monotonous, "This cannot be."
Said Commodore Perry, and put on his sword,
To drive away that British horde.

Now you know that story, how it ended full well,
I do not need all the rest now to tell.
Our children will hear in the twilight hours
How we met the enemy and they were ours.

Ohio keeps that sweet memory bright,
Of Perry's victory over the English might;
And ever since, it makes them weary,
To hear a Buckeye even say "Lake Erie."

The years rolled on, as years will go;
Men wrote and talked of slaves' sorrow and woe,
Drown in Cincinnati, blessed free Ohio,
A lady there lived—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Her husband a learned college professor,
You know,
Across from Cincinnati, over the river you see,
Lived some who were slaves and some who were free;

Painted tales of parables and woe,
Crossed the water to Mrs. Stowe,
As well as the slaves over the river—the Ohio.

Uncle Tom's Cabin, said Mrs. Stowe,
Were cakes of ice floating in that rapid river Ohio;
But later, jumping from cake to cake,
Safely reached freedom's side.

Of the river, in spite of ice and wind and tide,
In the Buckeye State was an underground trail;
It was neither auto, trolley nor rail,
Its stations were many, lovers of freedom, kind-hearted and brave.

To safely carried often, at night, the fugitive slave,
From all these tales, rehearsed to Mrs. Stowe,
On the beautiful hills of Cincinnati, Ohio.

She wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin, that wonderful book,
Which the nation's heart with sympathy shook.

With H. B. Stowe, on the roll of fame stands Benjamin Russell Hartley, a glorious name,
His "Darling Nellie Gray," as the old soldiers know,
Impressed all hearts aroused by Mrs. Stowe.

Through the whole nation you heard the sweet refrain,
"They have taken her to Georgia, to wear her life away."
As she toils in the cotton and the cane.

The Buckeye singer helped banish slavery with this lay,
He sleeps in Westerville, Ohio, till Resurrection Day.

It was in Ohio the temperance crusade
Was inaugurated by the Christian Woman's Aid.
She found Old King Alcohol mighty hard to kill,
But soon Ohio will banish every saloon and still.

The years rolled on till 1861,
And Fort Sumpter was fired upon.
The nation was horrified and stood aghast—
Was it war? Would slavery end at last?

The voice of Abe Lincoln sounded through the states—
From Atlantic to Pacific, and to the Great Lakes.
His answer came from thousands, as swiftly as could be,
And heroes were as plenty as fishes in the sea.

If we told them all it would take us for too long,
So just a few Ohioans will mention in our song.
First, the great victorious leader, who never said "I can't,"
But proceeded just to do things—our beloved U. S. Grant.

Another hero, we named him our pride,
Little Phil Sheridan, who made that famous ride.
Doubtless, many a veteran here may be,
Who with our dauntless Sherman, marched to the sea.

There was John Sherman too, who stayed by the state,
To help things going, and going mighty straight.
There was Stanton, o'er in Washington, whom rebels doomed to die,
But he was spared to us by the Powers on High.

There were Harrison, Rosecrantz, and James A. Garfield,
The McCooks, and brave McKinley, who never did yield.
Well, I might keep on, till this day was done,
If I only named our heroes, every one.

Then there are Buckeyes who are possessed of brains,
In fact they are as plenty as the April rains.
Such as William Dean Howells and Whitelaw Reid;
The Ewings, Tom Corwin, Stephen Belknap—mighty indeed.

For a while the "Mother of Presidents" was old Va.,
But a change was made, the tide came Ohio's way.
Think them up, rehearse them o'er and o'er,
And be glad you are a Buckeye more and more.

Do you need reminding? Of course you are aware,
Ohio never lost her grip on the Presidential chair.
She is still the mother—yes, the grandmother sage,
If not of a very venerable age.

How? Why Rev. Dr. Woodrow, as you all may know,
Was a Presbyterian minister, far above the average in Ohio,
His daughter, our president's mother, was a graduate,
(How much he owes to them!) of a notable seminary in the Buckeye State.

William H. Taft's ambition and chief desire,
Heart and brain both filled with patriotic fire;
To serve our country in the Supreme Court,
For law and statesmanship were his particular forte.

But Teddy said No, you must cross the blue sea,
And pacify the "Islands" for America and me.
Taft sighed but said, "If it is duty and my country's behest,"
I'll go, and as a patriot, serve my very best.

He went, and soon a good government formed,
And the American flag was no longer scorned.
Another brave Buckeye, who was also over there,
And Funston caught Rebel Aguinaldo in his snare.

There are three thousand islands in these Philippines of ours,
Now Old Glory is loved and floats from all their towers.
That's what these Buckeyes, Taft and Funston did,
And the Spaniards went back to old Madrid.

In Ohio there's plenty of fuel to keep us warm,
There's coal and wood and gas on almost every farm.
True, we have ice and cold and snow,
But snow is only a blanket for our wheat.

A product for bread that can't be beat,
Then our hills and our valleys teem with corn.
So whatever the season, we're never forlorn.
Then our black diamonds, more valuable are,
To humanity than the great Kohinoor.

Mann store building on Minnesota avenue and Fifteenth streets, beginning Sunday, March 25th, at 10:45 a. m. The meetings will continue every evening at 7 p. m. until the following subjects have been discussed:
God a Personal Being.
The Pre-existing of the Spirit of Man.
The Fullness of the Atonement.
The Many Mansions.
Celestial Glory, How Obtained.
The Sure Foundation.
Laying on of hands.
The Manifestation of the Spirit.
The Apostasy of the Primitive Christian Church.
The Restoration of the Gospel.
The Sealed Book.
The Wedding Garment.
Special Events Preceding the Near Coming of the Lord.
Come and hear the Gospel.

Women's Relief Corps
L. L. Mitchell, W. R. C. was called to order March 22nd by the senior vice president, Samantha Bartlett, the president being unable to be present. Five officers were absent at roll call.
Application of Emma G. Stout returned approved by the committee, and she was elected to become a member of our order.
Ten names were presented for membership.
Department convention will convene at Kalamazoo April 3rd and 4th.
L. L. Mitchell Relief Corps No. 12 endorsed Mabel DeRyder as our next department president. Several interesting talks were made by our visiting sisters.
Forty members and ten visitors were present.
Flora Cox, P. C.

We have peaches, pears, plums, cherries of every kind.
Apples, berries of all sorts, to suit every mind.
We ship our fruit east, by many a train,
And our apples keep till they come again.
And, oh, the nuts we store in the garner.
Hickory nuts, hazel nuts, walnuts, butternuts, chestnuts, I declare it.
They are many a Father gets the hammer and we all gather round.
Such happy winter evenings, can't elsewhere be found.
Of a circle the meaning is "without end."
The eye an emblem of wisdom, we blend,
What oracles of wisdom, what future so great?
Is meant by two o's and an I in the Buckeye state.
The coming years to us indicate.
My purpose was only to relate.
Some great men and times of the Buckeye State.
Should war come to us from over the main,
Ohio will find National leaders once again.
Her swords will be thousands, her hearts will be one,
Now my story is almost done.
Only this—to Old Glory Ohio will be ever true.
Three cheers now and always for the Red, White and Blue.

County Agents' Reports
St. Johns County.—The farmers at both Hastings and Elfton have organized and propose marketing their potatoes and corn co-operatively this year. One farmer near Elfton bought two registered Duroc gilts for $125, making a total of five such animals on his farm.
Polk County.—Some of the farmers in this county are equipping themselves with the necessary instruments to vaccinate their own hogs against cholera.
Brevard County.—Great interest is being shown in the plans for the importation of good dairy heifers and hogs, and everyone able to handle them will join in the effort to establish livestock in this county.
Lee County.—The county agent is urging the farmers to keep their potato vines sprayed because of the presence of some blight. Those who are spraying are keeping the trouble in check.
Alachua County.—Nine of the pig club boys have their pigs. Four of the boys paid cash for them and the others gave their notes at the bank. The pigs were weighed before delivering them to the boys.

Mrs. Holderman deserves the hearty support of everyone in the Cocoa section, as she will publish a paper that will indeed be a credit to the town. The Tribune wishes to extend to our namesake a successful career in the East Coast section.

Linger Longer, Brother

The other evening a group of guests at the New St. Cloud Hotel were comparing notes as guests with the contents of their letters from "back home." The first told of the deep snows in Vermont, where the farmers had to turn out and shovel roads through the snow so that the rural mail carriers could get over their routes, and of a railroad cut where the snow drifts were twenty feet deep, and no trains had been through for a month or more.
A gentleman from the West told a tale of woe and snow and ice in Washington; of frozen pipes and bursted plumbing, and zero weather. Then this afternoon comes into the office a nice old lady from Detroit, Mich., with a tale of the mercury ranging from 98 to 107 degrees last summer. And we wondered why people who had ever experienced the joys of Florida climate, with its balmy breezes, its seductive sunshine, its glorious rains, its winter and summer profusion of blossoms, its fragrance of tropical and semi-tropical species, should ever wish to go back to a country where man must either freeze or sweat. Linger longer, brother; you'll make no mistake.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FLAG ETIQUETTE

Editor Tribune:

The general display of the Stars and Stripes prompts me to write and request you to publish the following rules for flying the American flag.

1. The proper time for raising the flag is at sunrise or after, never before.
2. The flag must be lowered at sunset.
3. In draping the flag against the side of a building or room the proper position for the blue field is towards the north or towards the east.
4. If a mark of disrespect to the flag is to fly throughout the night.

Harry Lee King
Deputy Commissioner—Boy Scouts of America.

By request of Mrs. Elmina Wainwright, patriotic instructor of L. L. Mitchell Relief Corps, we publish the above flag etiquette.

Wallace, Idaho, March 15, '17
Editor Tribune:

Having read your article of March 15th regarding the passing of Prunty, and New York avenue with brick, and I being a property owner of St. Cloud, agree with F. E. H. Pope, that to pave with brick and only nine feet wide, is entirely too narrow for two teams or autos to pass. By all means make the pavement at least fifteen feet wide; the better width of the street would be better. A road built with your sand and washed rock or clean gravel or sand, with a binder of asphaltum, well rolled, will make an ideal and clean road. I am hoping to be a resident of St. Cloud one of these days. Very respectfully,
A. L. Honcker.

MR. A. G. DURHAM THANKS HIS FRIENDS FOR SUPPORT GIVEN HIM

To the Citizens of St. Cloud:
I desire to express my hearty appreciation of the confidence imposed in me at the election on Tuesday, when the voters of St. Cloud gave me such a handsome vote for the office of city treasurer, and wish to assure power to show my further appreciation of the confidence and the loyalty of the city that I shall do all in my power to discharge the duties of this office with a careful administration of the affairs of the city and that of city treasurer.

Very sincerely yours,
A. G. Durham.

SHAMBO, DURHAM, WASHBURN AND McCLAY ELECTED

owners, defeated E. F. Livermore by a vote of 10 to 8.
For city commissioner, N. H. Washburn defeated L. W. Farris, the present incumbent, by 42 votes.
For sanitary officer, J. Z. McClay defeated the present incumbent serving in that capacity, by 16 votes.
In the majority race—Mr. Shambo's majority was to votes.

L. U. Zimmerman, candidate for judge, had no opponent and polled 314 votes.
Two years ago Mr. Washburn, who was selected as the next street commissioner, was a candidate against Mr. Farris, when there were three men in the race and lost only by a small majority. This time there being but the two candidates for the place, Mr. Washburn overcame his losses of two years ago and became the next commissioner in the capacity of street commissioner.

Mr. J. L. Cummings, who has served the city in an efficient manner as city treasurer, declined to run for the office again this year. Messrs. Farris and Luckmaster were candidates to succeed themselves, but were among those who failed to get enough votes.

The new council has before them many important matters in civic development that will require special attention during the next few months, and the voters have entrusted him to the task of handling the business in the proper manner.

Mayor Shambo called at the Tribune office yesterday to express his appreciation to his friends who gave him such loyal support and to state that he would conduct the office or mayor in such a manner that no citizen would have room for complaint. Mr. Shambo had served the city in different capacities since coming here at the beginning of the town, and can be depended upon to give the city a progressive, fearless and satisfactory administration.

The new council will be composed of the following gentlemen: Livi Shambo, mayor; Fred Kenney, city clerk; D. H. Gilt, collector and assessor; A. G. Durham, treasurer; N. H. Washburn, street commissioner; J. Z. McClay, sanitary officer.

M'APES-DeGRAW

On Tuesday evening last, at 8 p. m., Miss Mary DeGraw, only daughter of Comrade J. H. DeGraw, became the bride of Mr. Victor M'Apes. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the Lake View hotel. Rev. J. B. Westcott was the officiating clergyman. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties and intimate friends were present. The bride was attired in white and looked very youthful. The groom wore the customary black.

MR. N. H. WASHBURN IS APPLICANT OF VOTE GIVEN HIM TUESDAY

To the Voters of St. Cloud:

My election as street commissioner and member of the city council at the city election held last Tuesday was very gratifying to me, and I wish to express my appreciation of the support given me by my friends, which resulted in my election over my worthy opponent. I shall do everything possible to secure for the city the best cared-for streets that can be found in any city in Florida, and shall at all times attend to the affairs of the city in a business-like manner.
Very truly yours,
N. H. Washburn.

TAG DAY NETS SEVENTY DOLLARS FOR LIBRARY FUND
New Building Now An Assured Fact.
Important Meeting For Next Wednesday

Yesterday was Tag Day for the Ladies' Improvement Club in behalf of their growing fund for a new library building on the line lots which the club already owns on Massachusetts avenue, and why indeed was the male being who escaped the clinging fingers and persuasive voices of the fair ones who took part in the game of excitement. The numerous green badges which adorned the lapels of a multitude of men were testified to the willingness of the male sex to help the ladies in their worthy project. That the badges were green is no reflection on the perspicacity of the wearers, but rather shows them to be public spirited citizens, desirous of helping a good cause along.

The following ladies participated in the selling of tags: Miss Beattie Coe, Miss Edith James, Miss Louisa Davis, Little four-year-old Ruth Harris, Mrs. J. C. Riddle, Mrs. J. H. George, Miss Beattie, Mrs. Alice Florence Coyle, Mrs. C. W. Morrison, H. Cable, and Miss Ruth Wylie.
The day was a successful one, netting the library fund the sum of $70.

Landis' Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Landis, who are spending the winter here, celebrated their golden wedding at "Sunnyside Villa," Massachusetts avenue and Fourteenth street, on Saturday, March 24th, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Comrade and Mrs. Landis had looked forward to this event for some time with great anticipation, yet there were some things about it for which they were not prepared.

After a number of selections by the L. L. Mitchell Drum Corps Mr. and Mrs. Landis were requested to rise while in a few well chosen words, the Rev. G. W. Danbury, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the second marriage ceremony at the close of which he presented to the bride and groom a bulky package; was the dinner understanding that they should open it in the presence of the guests. This they did, and after unfolding a basket full of paper they discovered some gold which had been intrusted for the occasion.

Mr. J. J. Landis is a veteran of the Civil war and served in Company I, 138th Indiana Volunteer Infantry, and after the war he and his estimable lady took up their residence in Fort Wayne, Ind., where Comrade Landis engaged in the business of making hammering and re-cooling and grinding saws. The worthy couple have been regular winter residents of St. Cloud for several years. Mr. Landis was married to Miss Mary Cayley by Rev. Johnston at Rome, Ind., on March 24th, 1867. Two children blessed this union, M. W. Landis, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Oscar C. Landis, of Spokane, Wash. They also have eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, also an adopted daughter, Mrs. Mae Weigman, who also resides in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Those present at the golden wedding were: The St. Cloud Drum Corps, Rev. G. W. Danbury, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Darlington, Mrs. John Cameron, Mr. Henry Grimm, Mrs. Lucy E. Smart, Mr. W. G. King, Mrs. Dorothea James, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dilworth, Rev. and Mrs. J. M. McInerney, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Buckmaster, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Bunnell, Mrs. A. D. Kelly, Mr. Wm. Cameron, Miss Beattie, Athens. Light refreshments of coffee, sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served and all went away wishing Mr. and Mrs. Landis the good fortune to live to see their diamond wedding in 1942.

Meeting of New England Society

LARGE ATTENDANCE—GOOD PROGRAM AND ENJOYABLE TIME

One of the most pleasing and enjoyable picnics of the entire winter was that held at Mr. Wentworth's hangar on the canal by the New England Society last Wednesday. There were over one hundred present. Dinner was served on several large tables under the shade of the spreading cypresses, followed by a program of music, speeches, and a general review of the past year, with a roll call of the members. The members of the St. Cloud Veterans' Film and Dramatic Corps were present and added zest to the occasion by special selections appropriate to the instructions. Also Mr. Jones, with his violin, and Mrs. Wozell, with the mandolin, contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Autos conveyed the party to and from St. Cloud out to the canal. One of the special attractions was the telling of fortunes by one who has the "nutcracker" "dom" pat." A great reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. White, newly-weds of a day. The drum corps escorted Comrade J. Wacker, wife and party of Wisconsin avenue enjoyed a ride Sunday to Welles Springs in their new car. They report a heavy shower storm on their trip.

Comrade W. W. Angel celebrated his first birthday last Tuesday a week and to judge by the way he gets about he will have another year or more years to enjoy the ideal climate of St. Cloud. He came here from Indiana some years ago and has many friends who greet him on his anniversary and extended a wish for the continuance of many more such milestones in his career.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tracey arrived in St. Cloud, March 28th, from Richmond, Iowa, for a short stay. They have become so well pleased with St. Cloud that they have purchased property here to make their future home. Mr. Tracey has been here all the winter.

The St. Cloud Fruit and Truck Growers Association which has not been holding regular meetings of late will hereafter meet on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the city hall. This statement is made on the authority of C. W. Morsman, Secretary.

In the Jackson Herald, published at Ripley, W. Va., we find a series of resolutions appreciative of the Christian character and high standing of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riley, who have been residents of St. Cloud during the past winter, in all of which we can heartily concur.

Mr. A. E. Cole, of Springfield, Ky., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cole, of California avenue and Fifteenth street, is visiting St. Cloud this week for the first time. He served in Company B, First Kentucky Volunteers, in the Spanish-American war, and is now supply agent for the C. & O. Railroad, on the Cincinnati-Huntington division.

The families of J. R. Schindl and M. Lahrer called over from Orlando to spend the day at the W. H. Rowe and E. G. Blackman homes. All are from the same home town in Minnesota, and the visit was thoroughly enjoyed. Pictures of both homes were taken to carry back north. The Schindls are touring the South and of course included our Wonder City. Both families have extensive holdings at Orlando.

The Local Women's Class of the Christian Sunday school met last Friday, March 24, at the church to practice training for service. There was a good attendance and much interest evidenced. They will meet again on Friday, April 6th, and all ladies are very earnestly invited to attend and take part in this great study as it teaches us how to understand the Bible better than we can by reading it ourselves. We again invite you to come at two o'clock sharp.—One of the Members.

The Wise Man

calls upon a lawyer for legal advice and a doctor for medical advice, then why not call on a plumber for advice as to the best, cheapest, safest and healthiest manner in which to install plumbing and bath fixtures in your residence or business home? The average man contracts for a house complete—wood work, brick, wiring, auto plumbing—and in ninety-nine out of every hundred cases the contractor knows little or nothing of either wiring or plumbing, with the result that oftentimes the plumbing and wiring is not up to the standard nor is the plumbing sanitary. If you will come to us we will write your specifications, and guarantee that if followed, the work in every detail will be absolutely sanitary and first-class in every respect, and further, that our services will not cost you one cent.

We now have a complete line of fixtures on display at our store-rooms, and urge the people of St. Cloud, especially the ladies, to call and examine them and learn our prices.

Mrs. T. M. Stevenson and niece, Miss Mary Lou Lemert, of Dresden, Ohio, left Friday morning for Palatka, where they will visit friends for a short time before returning to their home. They report a most delightful winter spent in the Wonder City and hope to return to St. Cloud next winter.

Mrs. Hodge, of New York City, who spent four months of last winter in the Wonder City, and who has been in St. Petersburg for several months of this winter, is again at her old quarters at The Haven. Mrs. Hodge will be remembered for her very genial and affable manner, and her friends are glad to welcome her back.

During the summer we will show three nights per week at the Palm, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 31-1

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Eldridge and son, Mrs. Fannie D. Remington, will leave St. Cloud in a few days for their home in New Britain, Conn. They have been in St. Cloud all winter, and Mr. Eldridge has become well known in this section of Florida as an expert motion picture camera operator, having made some excellent views of the different parts of Florida for the movie news service that delights the millions of people throughout the country over night.

An important meeting of the Ladies Improvement Club will be held at 4:30 p. m. in the G. A. R. Hall on Wednesday. The inauguration of long-deferred plans for a library building, now an assured fact, will be considered. Every wide-awake citizen should be vitally interested in this addition to our civic improvements. Hon. A. E. Donegan will address the meeting in support of the project.

To any one wishing to take up citizenship I would like to announce that for a short time only I will give lessons in classes for one each lesson. Please notify at once if you desire to join one of my classes. Studio corner New York, avenue and Seventh streets. Mrs. Gertrude Zimmerman. 28-1

The long deferred and anxiously hoped for rain came about midnight Tuesday, and whether it came in response to the prayers of our good governor, or was the result of natural conditions, it certainly was a real rain for a time, although the time was not long. For about an hour near midnight the rain is described as coming down in torrents. George Vaughn, acting as night watchman at the excavation for the septic tank, was compelled to run the pumps to their full capacity for an hour or more in order to prevent damage to the works. As he was obliged to face the full fury of the storm he was thoroughly drenched, and expressed his opinion next morning that it was "some rain." The rain will be a very welcome one to the farmers whose crops were suffering from the prolonged drought.

Meeting Elsie P. McElroy Auxiliary

The Elsie P. McElroy Auxiliary No. 12 of the Army and Navy Union, held their regular monthly meeting Monday, March 26th, at the Masonic hall. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read. Lady Commander Mary N. Hill was in the chair. A very interesting meeting was enjoyed. In the future after the business hour there will be a social session.

The meeting adjourned until the 9th of April. All comrades will please attend. Mrs. E. Vreeland, Press Correspondent.

Makes Auto Trip Thru Central Fla.

On the 9th of this month Comrades Ferdinand Rath and Wm. H. Hise started out to see some of the beauties of Central Florida, making the trip in W. H. Waters' car, returning home on the 12th. They report on enjoying visits to Sanford, Orlando, Deland, and the smaller towns on the way, arriving at Daytona in the afternoon of the day they started. After enjoying a delightful ride on the beach at Daytona they traveled on through the Hastings points section and visited the "Ancient City" St. Augustine, Fla. They visited the beautiful grove of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gandy, at Edgewood, on the banks of the Indian river, having been friends of these people in Connecticut. They made the trip back in a leisurely fashion and report it one of the most delightful that can be taken.

YE VILLAGE SCHEWL A GREAT SUCCESS

"Ye Village Schewl of Long Ago," a play given by the St. Cloud Women's Relief Corps, at the G. A. R. Hall last Friday evening, proved a great success as an entertainer, and judging from the size of the audience, must have added a neat little sum to the general fund of the Corps.

The play was a supposed reproduction of the old-time school of long ago, and the appearance of many well known citizens in the characters of school children was the occasion for much merriment and created very amusing situations. Where there was so much that was good it would be invidious to single out any single character for commendation. The following local people took part in the play and contributed to its success:

M. McKay, Mr. Miller, Comrades Ed DeWitt and G. W. Smith, Mesdames Williams, Martin, Washburn, Della Sage, Agnes, Livermore, Annette Smith, Groves, Wheeler, Lamm, Fowler, Stillwell, Cooley, DeWitt, White, Deschner, Miss Mildred Fowler, Comrade Barbara Katherine Parr, Lillian May, Goldie Groves, Comrade L. Q. Bowers, Vic Majors, Nina Carr, Comrade Daugherty and Mr. Vockrodt.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR MISS BARDWELL

A pleasant little family party consisting of the Bardwell colony on the lake front, assembled on Thursday last around the festive board. The entertainment was gotten up entirely by some of the gentlemen of the party as a farewell to Miss Bardwell, who was to leave for New York the next day.

The table was picturesquely arranged in a shady spot on the grass and the thirteen guests sat down without fear or superstition.

The first course, consisting of sandwiches and delicious coffee, decorated eggs, pickles, olives, etc., was very promptly served, and a little later ice cream, strawberries and several kinds of nice cake, with more coffee, and peppermints for digestion.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bardwell, Miss Jennie Bardwell, of New York City; Miss May Compton and her father, from Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Carmick of Long Island; Mr. O. N. Smith, of Chicago; Mr. Lundy and Dr. Wilbur, of Elmira, N. Y.; Mr. Boring, of Kansas; and Mr. Van Dusen, a friend from Michigan City, Ind.

At the close of the meal Mr. Carmick recited a comic piece entitled "The Man from New York," then Dr. Wilbur read a humorous piece about how George Washington Thomas Jefferson Persimmon Henry Clay saved the baby at the time of a flood, Ohio, or pieces and songs were presented and the finishing piece was to be sung, God Be With You Till We Meet Again, but the festivities were interrupted by the arrival of an automobile load of friends to say good bye to Miss Bardwell.

Delightful Surprise Party to L. Q. Bower

One of the many pleasant social events for which St. Cloud is justly noted, was the surprise party last Wednesday evening for Comrade L. Q. Bowers, 609 South Massachusetts avenue, when friends and neighbors bore down upon him to join in celebrating his 75th birthday.

The drum corps' stirring music was the signal for the gathering of the tribe. All enjoyed those thrilling notes, even to little Merne, who loyally kept time with his small fist.

Mr. Ralls made a beautiful speech, congratulating Mr. Bowers on having arrived safely at Station No. 75 on life's journey.

Mr. Hughes, in a spread-eagle speech, presented a birthday gift from friends present, a fountain pen. The refreshments were ice cream, cake and coffee. The cake of honor, a beautifully decorated one, was made and presented by Mrs. Gerlie Bowers and it was not only a thing of beauty but would tickle the palate of a connoisseur.

Well, the way those refreshments disappeared was proof positive of their excellence.

Mr. McGill and Mr. Hendrix were thoughtful to bring their violins, and they rendered some fine selections. Mr. Bowers also played some old-time favorites. Mr. Burch sang a number of familiar melodies, accompanied by the violin.

Little Merne Bower contributed his share to the evening's enjoyment. Those present were C. B. Hughes and wife, B. F. Merrill and wife, C. K. Hendrix and wife, A. McGill and wife, Mr. Phillips and wife, A. D. Stephens and wife, D. C. Bowers, wife and son, Merner B. F. Ralls and wife, W. H. Kennedy and wife, Mrs. Jaques, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Murray, W. G. King, R. N. Burch, A. A. Martin, Mr. Wright, Mr. Seward, and Mr. Truesdell.

Mr. Bowers' may live to pass many more milestones on life's journey. C. E. K.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT AT KISSIMMEE APRIL 3 & 4

The annual encampments of the Grand Army for the State of Florida will be held this year at Kissimmee, beginning April 3rd and continuing through the 4th. The parade will be held on the 3rd, followed by a campfire on Wednesday evening. To accommodate those from St. Cloud who wish to remain for the campfire, a special train will run, leaving Kissimmee at ten p. m. The regular fare will be charged, no reduced rates being given. The hotels at Kissimmee will charge only the regular rates, and no attempt will be made to overcharge the old veterans.

The File and Drum Corps will attend and awaken the memories of the old soldiers with their stirring martial melodies. As the banner G. A. R. town of the state, if not of the nation, St. Cloud will be expected to turn out a good delegation, and we are assured that not less than 200 of the "old boys" will be present, headed by Commander James Goff. It is said that there are from 750 to 800 old veterans permanently residing here, which number is largely increased during the winter season.

Merry Birthday Picnic at Ashton

On Wednesday a party of four with well filled baskets wended their way to the depot to take the early morning train to spend the day at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. E. French at Ashton, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Barber. The morning was pleasantly spent with games and conversation until the noon hour came. With the call for dinner all sat down to a table which fairly craked with good things, and after dinner all went for a walk through the groves. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. French, of Ashton; Mr. and Mrs. George Barber and Miss Ella McAllister, of St. Cloud; and Mr. Myron F. Barber, of Montevideo, Minn.; and in the evening all wished their way back to the depot, wishing Mrs. Barber many happy returns of the day.

PHOSLINE REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Thursday of last week's H. B. May's, representing the Phosline Co., of Ocala, spent most of the day in St. Cloud visiting truck growers and grove owners in the interest of his company. Mr. S. W. Porter is the local representative of this company and keeps a stock of fertilizers in need for immediate delivery. Mr. May says that business is getting better all over the state and that this has been the best fruit season ever experienced in Florida.

DOUBLE WEDDING

A notable wedding which came as a complete surprise to the parents of the blushing brides, occurred one day last week, when Miss Alpha Reagan was married to Mr. Sidney Howell, and her sister, Miss Nora Reagan, became the wife of Mr. George Alberts, of Minneapolis, Minn. The ceremony took place at the residence of R. E. Julian, who officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Howell will make St. Cloud their home, while Mr. and Mrs. Alberts departed Monday for Minneapolis. The young ladies are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reagan, of Fourteenth street and Illinois avenue.

The Machine That Will Cut Palmetto Roots From Land, Doing Work of 150 Workmen Per Day--Promises to Revolutionize Land Clearing

For several years men have tried various plans for expediting the clearing of lands where dense undergrowth is encountered, and various machines have been experimented with in all parts of the country, but not until the Florida Soil Fertility Company made the announcement that their experiments, which have been going on for months with such a machine as is presented herewith, was successful, has the dream of many mechanics reached a realization.

The announcement made this week in the Tribune for the first time that the machine is now complete and that the company is ready to take contracts for the clearing and plowing of lands will be received with great satisfaction by the owners of thousands of palmetto-covered lands that has in past been too expensive to clear and prepare for cultivation.

The experiments on this land, cultivation, of palmetto roots, cutter and tractor plow, has been going on in Ocala county between St. Cloud and Kissimmee for some time, and many have been the changes that were found necessary to be made on the original machine that was brought to this section for testing. Here and there some part showed itself to be too tightly constructed to stand the strain that was required of it, and new and stronger parts had to be added as needed. These changes have been going on as the tests were made, until it has proven now that the machine will do all that is claimed for it.

This machine clears, plows and harrows in one operation, putting the soil in ideal condition, ready for twin plows. The machine does the work of 150 men per day, and reduces the cost of any other method of clearing lands from $5 to $15 per acre. The land owner need no longer consider the clearing of his land as a problem, as with the use of one of these machines he can have any sized tract cleared and ready for crops before he puts his fence up.

These machines are not for sale or lease, the company taking contracts for clearing the lands in any size tracts. This machine does not remove the large stumps that must ordinarily be blown out in advance of the machine, but takes care of all the lateral roots that are just under the surface of the soil. Demonstrations of this machine have been given recently and the work has pleased thousands of persons with its adaptability to the palmetto lands of this section.

Mr. Chas. F. Burrows, of Kissimmee, is president and general manager of the Florida Soil Fertility Co., incorporated, and will arrange to clear lands for any person who will communicate with him by phone or letter.

Mr. Burrows desires the hearty co-operation of every land owner in this part of the state, since he works for months to accomplish the results that have been obtained and he's placed at the disposal of these and owners a machine that will meet a long-felt want. Already there has been application for the machine in this section, and persons having tracts of lands should get in touch with Mr. Burrows at once.

Owners of small tracts in a community should combine their efforts to obtain the land clearing machine and have several of these tracts worked at a time, which should reduce the expense to a certain degree. Terms and prices will be made known upon application to Mr. Burrows, at Kissimmee, of the Florida Soil Fertility Company.

One of the chief benefits of using this machine, and one reason for the name of the company including "clearing," is that the roots when chopped and decaying in the soil holds certain fertile qualities that are lost entirely when roots and stumps are hauled from the ground.

the cars and after a long trip the stronger animal have the weaker ones at their mercy, sometimes severely injuring or killing them.

Calves may be deborned quickly by the use of caustic potash. This may be applied to the horn button before it becomes attached to the skull. Rub the button with the damp stick of caustic until the part becomes tender and shows that the outer skin has been eaten off. A scab forms and falls off in a few days. Keep watch to see that the button does not start growing again as it will if the work is not thorough. The button may be picked out or peeled off with a sharp knife, if this method is preferred.

In deborning older animals it is necessary to peel the skin around the horn wall back and cut the horn close to the head. If this is carefully done a neat poll will result. The horn may be sawed with an ordinary butcher's or bone saw. There are several parties near St. Cloud who are now on the market that do the work rapidly but not as neatly as the work of a butcher. Most cattlemen who have large numbers of cattle prefer to use deborners on account of time saved.

During the fly season special care should be taken to cover the wound with a heavy tar to prevent infection with maggots.

A farmer draws his salary for the work he has carried through from planting until harvest. He doesn't make anything by planting and then going to sleep.

The Keating child labor act will reach 150,000 children, but there are 1,800,000 children in the United States who cannot be touched by Federal legislation.

MAKES REAL CASH RETURNS

Land Values and Yields Are Increased Through Extension Work

For every dollar spent in co-operative demonstration work in Florida by the state and federal governments through the University of Florida extension division, the farms and farmers are twenty-five dollars better off. Which is a remarkable return on the investment. The returns are made in the form of increased farm values, increased crop production, and increased herds of improved livestock. Part of the return is in cash, the rest is in the form of increased farm values.

You don't generally like figures, but you will like these. There are a few of the items that go to make up the big returns:

Through following the demonstration methods, the corn crop was increased. That increase, figured at 90 cents a bushel, was $1,572. The increase in alfalfa was $1,200. The increase in soybeans was $1,200. The increase in oats was $1,200. The increase in wheat was $1,200. The increase in clover was $1,200. The increase in alfalfa was $1,200. The increase in soybeans was $1,200. The increase in oats was $1,200. The increase in wheat was $1,200. The increase in clover was $1,200.

Through demonstration methods used in handling livestock, the total return was $40,710. Which includes the value of new stock and the value of those saved from death by disease. The increased value of the farms brought about through improvements such as stumping, and the building of dikes and dipping vats amounts to $120,000. The value of fertilizers and manure bought or saved amounts to more than one and one-half million dollars.

Then here are the results that can

PRICE OF HORSE LABOR HAS INCREASED

Taking a general average for farm horses over the United States, the time each horse works is three hours a day. The cost of that labor is more than thirteen cents an hour, says F. M. Hays, of the University of Florida College of Agriculture.

Figures available for the period from 1902 to 1907 placed the cost at eight cents. From 1908 to 1912 it was twelve and a half cents an hour. Now, with the price of feeds at a high mark, the cost is not less than thirteen cents an hour, and probably more.

On most farms there is an extra horse or two kept to be available during rush periods. While it is hard to get away from this practice, it has much to do with increasing the labor cost for all of the horses on the farm.

PRODUCE HOME-GROWN PORK

Grow the Necessary Feeds and Make Two Profits

Profitable pork production should be the aim of every farmer in Florida. To produce pork at a profit, this greater portion of the feeds used must be grown on the farm. As a rule, most feeds can be grown cheaper than they can be bought, and you will save for yourself the profit the feed dealer usually makes.

These farmers who wish to have hogs ready for the market next fall and winter should be planting the necessary crops for fattening them," says J. M. Scott, animal industrialist to the University of Florida experiment station. He suggests this combination of feeds which should prove economical in fattening hogs:

Shelled corn, 100 pounds; sweet potatoes, 100 pounds; and peanut meal, 50 pounds. Or this one might be used: 50 pounds of shelled corn, 50 pounds of peanuts and 5 pounds of tankage, with green pastures, such as cowpeas, lespedeza, or Bermuda grass for summer, and dwarf Essex rape, oats or rye for winter.

Another good combination of feeds would be 100 pounds of shelled corn, 25 pounds of velvet bean seed, 5 pounds of tankage, and the green pasture feed. If you wish to include cassava in the ration the following combination will prove satisfactory: 100 pounds shelled corn, 100 pounds cassava, and 50 pounds peanut meal, with the green pasture crops. If clover is grown, they may be substituted for the cassava.

It will be found that the green pasture supplied will go a long way toward reducing the cost of pork production.

RAILROADS SHOULD ALSO HELP

Tick-free State Means Greater Revenues for the Carrier

"One of the quickest and surest ways to increase freight and passenger revenues for the railroads in the state is to eradicate the cattle tick," that is the message of Dr. E. M. Nighbert of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry who is co-operating with the state of Florida to eradicate the cattle tick. He is handling that message to loyal railroad employees.

Perhaps you see no connection between tick eradication and freight revenues. Here it is. "Fifty heads of tick-infested, native piney woods cat-

CATTLE NEED NO HORNS

You Will Save Money By Cutting Them Off Early

Dairy and beef cattle no longer need the horns that were once their sole protection. Horns are now a nuisance to the animal and its owner. What dairymen cannot remember losing some good cow by having her udder torn or gashed by a horn? Dairy cattle with horns are more nervous and cause a spirit of unrest in the herd. The contented animal is the best producer.

The large feeders of the Middle West have found it always pays to deborn beef cattle when putting them in the feed lot. They are less quarrelsome and more contented than the animals with horns, which means faster and more economical gains. The polled animals have a more uniform and much neater appearance on the market than animals with horns. When without horns they can be loaded into a car with less danger of injury in shipment. Cattle become nervous in the weighing six hundred pounds each, will be crowded into one stock car. The revenue is only one-third of what might arise from the same number of large, well bred, tick-free scores weighing nearly a thousand pounds each, requiring three stock cars to haul them to market." And, Dr. Nighbert might have added, the increased revenue to the railroads would be paid out of the higher prices allowed by the packers for the better class of stock. So it is not a one-sided proposition.

Members of the state legislature were impressed with the fine livestock and the advanced agricultural conditions they found in tick-free Dade county after their recent visit to the Everglades. Tick-free territory, especially where it means more passengers transported, more freight revenues from hauling their personal belongings into the territory, and increased freight traffic when their products go to market.

"Some of the main trunk line railroads in Florida have agricultural and livestock agents to develop that line of business, which is commendable. But the entire army of employees can prove their loyalty to their roads by agitating tick eradication in their respective states, towns or box car deposits out in the woods," says Dr. Nighbert. "And not only will they be helping themselves, they will be helping to open the way for farmers to produce cheaper milk, butter and beef, and more of it."

CONGRESSMAN SEARS RECEIVES CALL SPECIAL SESSION CONGRESS APRIL 2; SUMMARIZES WORK OF PAST SESSION

Hon. W. "Joe" Sears, United States Congressman, who is spending a brief visit here with his family, is one of the busiest men in the community. Coming here to rest after the strenuous session of the nation's lawmakers, he has been "on the jump" practically every minute of the day. Not content with assignments of all sorts of "honors" and "presidencies" at local happenings of various kinds, which have been more numerous within the past few days than usual, the general statesman fell a victim to the district one Masonic "feast" taking the third degree of that order on Tuesday night and Wednesday, after returning from Orlando, where he spoke at the congressional laying of the Federal building, his friends again corralled him to attend the meeting of Knights of Pythias Lodge. The return of the soldiers from the front and the congressman's "homecoming" was almost simultaneously, and everybody is so familiar with the active part "Joe" was more than willing to take to welcome the thousands back to their homes and loved ones.

But that is not all—just about the time one distinguished representative in congress began to feel that he was to have a few minutes of his own, along comes one of those "sticking plaster" publicity agents, and represented a "story for publication." In the usual obliging manner, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "Joe" consented, and the afternoon news suffered little loss from the following, in answer to a query what the congressman had to say.

"I am glad to be back home again, and had hopes of spending several months visiting various parts of my district. However, just before leaving Washington the president called a special session of congress for April 2, and even with so short a time I intended going over as much of my district as possible. Wednesday I received a telegram from Hon. Chauncy Wilson, head of a call for a special session of congress to begin April 2, and that the Democratic can't, in my view, on the speaker, majority leader and members of committees would be held at 11 a. m., March 30. This will make it absolutely impossible for me to visit any of my district and I trust my friends will thoroughly understand and appreciate my position.

"During the last session of congress the Sundry Civil Bill, Military Bill, Rivers and Harbors Bill, Public Buildings Bill, and the Emergency Bill passed the House, but all these measures died in the Senate. I had succeeded in incorporating in the above bill between $800,000 and $300,000 for my district, and also a survey of Canaveral Harbor, near Eau Gallie, Banana Creek and Lake Worth (Fla.). In the Public Buildings Bill was included a public building for Kissimmee. There was included in the Sundry Civil Bill appropriations sufficient to complete public buildings both at Orlando and Deland, and an appropriation for such a building at Sanford. It would take up too much space, and no doubt would not be of any local interest to mention all of the items which failed of passage in the Senate. When I return to Washington I will therefore be forced to begin all over again and will endeavor to achieve again the passage of all these appropriations.

"However, as in the past, I will not make any promises, only desire to say that I will be on the job and do the best I can. In behalf of the Florida Senators I desire to say they did all they could to secure the passage of the measures referred to above, but on account of the peculiar conditions with which the country is familiar they were unable to accomplish anything. The entire Florida delegation has worked harmoniously together, but to them much credit is due for what I have been able to accomplish. A strong fight has been made against river and harbor improvements and public buildings bills, but I am on record in Washington as having stated that the charge of pork barrel and graft, in many cases made, I fear, solely to get larger appropriations for the larger cities, will not deter me from fighting for all meritorious propositions affecting my district. Out of this entire amount of $8,000,000 included in the Public Buildings Bill, outside of, and not including the District of Columbia, only $5,000,000 was to small cities for public buildings, and it to support these measures, and to endeavor to give to the people those who pay taxes what they are entitled to, constitute a pork barrel statesman, I am glad to say that I qualify as such. Much criticism was heaped upon members of congress by some of the large daily papers of the North and East, and especially Washington, because of the attitude as stated above, but I am not thin-skinned, nor do I object to legitimate criticism. I will therefore only repeat that such unjust criticisms will not prevent me from fighting for what I conscientiously believe my district is entitled to.

"The past session has, indeed, been a trying one, and I fear the next session, which will soon begin, will be even a more trying one. However, as in the past, I shall vote upon all questions as my conscience dictates, and I believe I can state my conscientiousness to be behind me. Having gone through the trying winter it is needless for me to say how much I regret having to go so soon to leave the Land of Sunshine and Flowers, and I sincerely trust that the great leader, Woodrow Wilson, co-operating with the other great minds of the House and Senate, may safely steer the ship of State through the rough waters through which we are passing."

Asked what he thought about the profitable war with Germany, Congressman Sears said the situation was such he believed it not a time for discussion, and therefore did not even care to express an opinion; "Times are so anxious for public men to cash in on it," concluded Mr. Sears.

Referring to the visit to Florida recently of the House Committee on Indian Affairs, which he accompanied to various sections, the congressman stated that he considered his visit one which will do the state a great deal of good. The members are progressive, live, wide-awake men from the West, most of them, and he was satisfied that not only did these men see much in Florida to interest them, but our people got some of their ideas which will result in much benefit. All sections that were visited showed the committee every courtesy, and they were royally entertained and left the state with favorable impressions in every way.

Vets' Association

The Veterans Association met on March 28th at 2 p. m. President Kenyon presided. The audience sang America, which was followed by a prayer by Chauncey Weston.

Reading of the minutes of last meeting by the secretary, which were approved.

A collection was taken which netted $3.84.

Sister A. D. Kelly was introduced and addressed us on old times past and uttered praises for St. Cloud.

A comrade's wife, at North, Place, Nels, sent as a donation for the W. R. C. dinner—two potatoes. But they came too late for the dinner. One was put up at auction, and after some lively bidding it was knocked off to Comrade McNabb, of Newcastle, Pa., for $1.05. Mr. McNabb again put it on sale, going at $2. Both amounts were given to the W. R. C.

The second potato is to be sold at its next meeting January 31.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. J. L. Brown, who was in charge of the social hour, as follows:

Song, The Bonnie Burton, by Comrade Chase.

Recitation, Oh, you S. Cloud, by Miss Gelda Groves. She then recited the sequel to the first, or St. Cloud The Right Place At Last.

Address by Mrs. Clara Kenney entitled An Old Veteran's Soliloquy.

Song, Wives to Blame, Mr. and Mrs. DePew. They represented a husband and wife's quarrel.

Recitation, Never Give Up, by Miss Chase.

Miss Francisella Beckham then recited "Hush." For an encore she recited "Clancy."

A duet by Miss Lillian Mayes and Miss Bertha McClellan.

Song by the choir, Old Kentucky Home.

Comrade Tom H. Allen was called to the stage. He both spoke and sang, giving us a mixture, and he was greatly appreciated.

The program was good. Everyone who had a part in it did well and the audience fully appreciated it all.

Mrs. Maggie Brown, who was in charge, had everything going smoothly and promptly and received many congratulations for her success, being her first attempt.

Audience arose and sang The Star Spangled Banner, and all adjourned until Saturday, March 31st.

J. L. Brown, Sec.
